In rude times men had few wants but corporeal ones, and consequently there was little besides material property. Bnt in process of time new desires were created, mental wants were excited, and men became willing to pay for products to gratify their minds. They became willing to pay tor books, and this created and gave value to a great incorporeal estate--LITERATURE. 90. A desire for Art, too, sprung up, and this created great estates in Abt, either embodied in a material form, such as pictures and statues, or in an incorporeal form, such as music, and dancing, and acting, and so on down to its lowest forms. And so through the whole catalogue of trades and professions. It is the demand of the public which confers value on them. 91....
